PERSONAL PROFILE

Matthew is a self-taught Front-End Developer with a robust foundation in HTML, CSS and JavaScript, as well as currently acquiring knowledge of frameworks such as React JS, to accompany BootStrap and SCSS.

Having been inspired by building projects using Python, Matthew took to Web Development as his chosen field after recognising the need to improve a family member's business' website. Since then 100s of hours have gone into learning and development with a determined desire to move into professional web development.

Matthew Currently works as a Tourism Health & Safety Specialist, having become a highly qualified specialist in his field. Throughout his career, he has worked extensive periods in more than 30 countries, including living in Madrid, Spain where he became fluent in Spanish.

Mathew's portfolio can be found at <https://mjclifford.com/> where a list of projects can be found.
